DOES IT PAY?

What "Free Ferriage" Did For Our Merchants Yesterday

It would be somewhat remarkable if one act of the City Council would benefit every individual alike; but the aim of legislation is to do the greatest good to the greatest number, and when this is done it most nearly approaches the acme of human wisdom.

Recently, in a response to a request from the Board of Trade, the Council generously provided for Free Ferriage between Aberdeen and this city on County Court Days; and while there are many who receive no direct results, it is quite certain that so many do that ultimately the entire community shares in the benefits.

If an example were needed to illustrate this point it may be found in yesterday's record.

During the day 678 persons came to Maysville from Ohio, crossing on the Launce, and on the return trip 598 separate packages were carried to Aberdeen.

Of course it would be mere speculation to place a value on these packages, but it does not seem that $1 each would be an extravagant estimate; so here were practically $600 brought into Maysville yesterday that would not have come unless the inducement of a "free ride" had been offered.

Aren't you well enough acquainted with human nature to know that the average man or woman can always be depended upon to spend $5 in order to get 5 cents for nothing?

A son, Mr. James Lashbrooke, lives near the ancient house, which is still in excellent repair and bids fair to weather the storms of another century.

MASON COUNTY, KY., May 8th, 1900.
Having sold all of my real estate, I now make this my last will, and revoke all others up to the above date. My wife, Elizabeth A. Wall, and I have always made an equal distribution of money when given to our children. Hundreds of dollars have I given when I hoped it would do good. This I consider every father's right to do. Whatever is left after my just debts and funeral expenses are paid, I give to my son, Garrett S. Wall, and his sister, Mary W. Apperson, in equal proportions.

My daughter, Lydia E. Dimmitt, is now well provided for by her father and mother. I leave and give my son the entire control to settle and wind up and settle with his sister as above written.

No bond or security required of him. Given under my hand.
